Taste of the Outback

Day 1: Depart for Innamincka and Birdsville (L,D)

Your three-day outback air safari kicks off early, with a flight bound for the tiny outback town of Innamincka in South Australia's remote northeast. On the way in, your pilot will fly low over the Dig Tree, where the explorers Burke and Wills famously set up camp. On the ground, learn more about this pioneering pair and their ill-fated expedition. Drop into the Innamincka Hotel, an authentic outback pub, then continue on to Birdsville. On touchdown, embark on a stunning 4WD tour to Big Red, the 40-metre sand dune on the edge of the Simpson Desert. Drink in the views as the sun sets while enjoying refreshments. Return to Birdsville for a cleansing ale, dinner and chat with fellow travellers at the famous outback pub.

Overnight: Birdsville Hotel

Day 2: Birdsville to Arkaroola (B,L,D)

Take a low-level flight down the Diamantina River, Goyder Lagoon and the Warburton River before flying over Lake Eyre North. Kati Thanda–Lake Eyre is an incredible destination, magnificent whether in its usual dry, flat, salt-plain state or during those rare periods when rains in the gulf have filtered down to create an oasis in the desert. Fly low and slow over the lake for some fantastic photos. Stop into William Creek. Enjoy a refreshing ale with hearty outback fare for lunch at the William Creek Hotel.

Birdsville Pub

Fly south-east towards the Flinders Ranges and Balcanoonna, where the late afternoon sun exposes the vibrant palette of colours on the mountains. A 30-minute drive brings you to Arkaroola Wilderness Sanctuary. After dinner, enjoy incredible views of the stars and constellations in the night sky at the resort's observatory.

Overnight: Arkaroola Wilderness Sanctuary, Mawson Room

Day 3: Arkaroola to home city (B,L)

Begin the day with the famous Ridgetop Tour in an open-air 4WD vehicle to Sillers Lookout, where you'll experience the ruggedness and beauty of the northern Flinders Ranges. The area is home to over 160 species of birds and the shy and endangered yellow-footed rock wallaby, along with craggy mountains, towering granite peaks, magnificent gorges and mysterious waterholes.

In the afternoon, it's time to head home. Fly over Lake Frome en route, arriving in the early evening.
